Media Information 2021

CIE provides relevant and informed editorial that can be used by the engineering community to better understand the trends and developments taking place in the industry. Each month, we offer news and industry expert commentary, interviews, company profiles, product announcements and technical articles that cover the stories and developments that matter most to the electronics industry.

Delivered monthly, CIE's distinctive format helps differentiate it from its competition, and its content can be delivered in the format that suits the reader best, whether that's as a magazine, an app, or in digital format.

Together with the magazine, CIE also offers daily updates via the website, a weekly content-based newsletter, as well as direct marketing opportunities and supplements throughout the year.

CIE targets Design Engineers, Buyers and Specifiers within the Medical, Automotive, Defence/Military and Aerospace industries

DISTRIBUTOR DIRECTORY

Designed to provide buyers and engineers with a comprehensive list of distributors, the manufacturers they represent and the products and services that provide, CIE's annual Distributor Directory gives users the information they need to source the electronic components they require.

Clear and concise the Directory is easy to use and highlights the range of services that are available to the engineering community across the UK.

The Distributor Directory is a guide to all that's available in the UK electronic components supply chain and provides a unique source of information to help companies make an informed decision.

It highlights principal manufacturers and product types including the sourcing of obsolete or discontinued components.

Reliable and trusted the Distributor Directory also enjoys the support of the Electronic Component Supply Network (ECSN) and the Association of Franchised Distributors or Electronic Components (AFDEC).

CIE's Distributor Directory 2019, supporting the UK's engineering community.
